I think I never saw him out of temper that will survive for generations. but once and that was when I presented him the unanimous confirmation of a certain personage for a high office. Why did the Senate not confirm Mr. — and Mr. —? My friends knew I wanted this done, and I wanted it done to-day;" and then he used certain strong expressions against the successful person. I looked at him with some surprise, never having seen him in such a mood, and said: "Why, Mr. Lincoln, you seem to hold me responsible for the set of the senate, when you must be aware of the custom under which that body acted."

enstem under which that body acted."
"Oh, no," was his reply, "I was not ecolding you, my friend; but I fear I have been caught in a trap." Many a fierce conflict took place in his presence between angry politicians, but it required a very strong provocation to overbalance his judgment or equanimity. Not so, however, with an appeal for meroy; not so with a petition from the poor. Here he was as weak as woman, and more than once mingled his and educated for the priestbood, had made his debut and been performing for nearly two years without attracting any extraor-dinary notice. The same mistake which had kept her back so long had been re-peated in his case. He came out in gen-teel comedy, and only slid into the range of parts really suited to him by degrees. His sister's arrival gave him a lift; and it was her excellence in "Lady Macbeth" and "Queen Catharine" that at length caused woman, and more than once mingled his tears with the gentler eex. When the Baltimore Convention, which renominated him for President, was about to meet, and Mr. Humlin declined being a candidate for Vice President in order that the Democratic element might be represented, Mr. Lincoln personally ad-inaugurated Vice President in the Sen-ate Chamber. I do not desire to see the ourtain rise before a scene that both parties seemed willing to expunge-the Republicans who apologized for it when it occurred, and the Democrats, who regrette curred, and the Democrata, who regretted it after Johnson joined, their despairing columns. But I can never forget. President Lincoln's face as he came into the Senate Chamber while Johnson was delivering his incoherent harangue. Lincoln had been detained signing the bills that had just passed the old Congress, and could not witness the regular opening of the new Sanate till the cerrmonies had the new Senate till the ceremonies he fairly commenced. He took his seat facin the brilliant and surprised audience and heard all that took place with man and heard all that took piece with unni-terable sorrow. He then spoke his abort mangural from the middle portice of the capital, and rode quickly tome. Bitter maledictions were immediately harled against the new vice-President. I harten-ed to his defense with the best of my abilichange. The scene was noted as I had a defense with the best of my ability myself conceived it, and the innovation, as the Nr. Sheridan called it, was received with approbation. Mr. Sheridan himself came to me after the play, and most ingenuous to me after the play, and most ingenuous. that I found myself to be among those wh belped Mr. Johnson to exposure. HENRY HABLEY, aug3dtf Old Things Have Paused Away.—This is at le .s. true of the old method of treating the long-abused and much abused human body. It is no longer considered wise to put a patient to the torture in order to cure him of a disease in which pain is already undermining the energies of his system. True science ranges itself on the side of nature, and endeavors to assist ber in her fight against disease. This is the province of Hostetter's S omach Bitters, the most approved tonic ever advertised in this country. It may be regarded as a fall medicine par excellence for it is in the fall that biliousness, dyspepsi and malarious fevers are especially prevalent.

The frame, exhausted by the heats of summer, is relaxed and feeble at its close, and requires, we may ear demands, artificial assistance. Afford it that assistance in the shape of Hostetter's Ston ach Bitters, and the evils referred to may be escaped. Throughout the far west, and on the steaming alluvial of the southern rivers, all the varieties of periodical fever are prohably rafe to day. Had a course of Hostetter's Bitters been commenced by the sufferers a month ago, i.e. before the unhealthy season set in, seven-eighths of them would in all probability be in their usual health at the present time. So much for want of forecaste. So much for not keeping in the house, gress of pir into oil wests while the tabing is being drawn. It is a well-known fact to oil well operators that upon wells where g as pumps are used, it is necessary to preserve as nearly a perfect vacuum as possible, and that no air should helet into the well at any time when it can possibly he avoided: consequently whenever the tubing is drawn from a well, it is the cause of great injury to it, aatho stuffing box being then necessarily opened, the sir immediately runbes back between the tubing and casing into the well, going unto the oil rock and gas veins, and consequently crusing the oil and gas to rush back to a great distance. It at most always takes several days after pumping is resumed for a well to be brought back to its former condition, and ottentmes it takes asveral weeks, and quite frequently wells have been atmost completely runed by the air being thus let in white drawing tubing.

The Back Suction Preventive is attached to the stuffing bor, and works in such a way that it completely shurs up the space between the stuffing box and tubing so effectually that not a particle of at can get through at any time while the tubing is being drawn and replaced.

It supplies a want long reit, and is without question one of the most valuable inventions of the day to those engaged in the oil-producing basiness. Ne well should be without one, as it oftentimes saves ten times its c.st by once using. The success of the New Government 5 per cent.
